

Bioethical Choices Soon to be the Talk of (the) Town and Gown

Unfold the brochure for the sixth conference on "Canada, the World and the Future" and you know that facts and informed opinion are going to permeate Bernard Snell Hall, University of Alberta Hospitals, from 10 to 11 November.

It's when bioethical choices, including those related to reproductive technology, human experimentation, and transplants and life-support systems, will be examined from all angles.

In building the four-day conference around these topics, the organizers remain true to the unwritten credo of "Canada, the World and the Future"—tax the thought processes of speakers and audiences alike.

Biotechnology has, of course, directed any number of perplexing questions society's way. In the conference brochure ethics is defined as an "art of building bridges between the ideal and real worlds, between what should be done and what can be done." In setting the scene for the inaugural session—"Biotechnology: Utopia or Brave New World?"—it's noted that the development and availability of drugs, expertise in organ transplants, research in genetic engineering, and the effects of high technology on all aspects of clinical care lead to serious ethical questions. Should preference be given to prolonging life or ensuring a full life? What is to be done when individual interests run counter to the demands and rights of society? What is the social responsibility of genetic research?

The conference is open to University staff, students and the general public.

Further details will appear in next week's Folio. □

Adolf Grünbaum Will Lecture Extensively

Endowment Fund for the Future Distinguished Visitor Cuts Wide Swath in Philosophy of Science Circles

The cooperation of three Faculties (Medicine, Science, and Arts) has enabled the University to invite to the campus as an Endowment Fund for the Future Distinguished Visitor Professor Andrew Mellon Professor of Philosophy at the University of Pittsburgh, Adolf Grünbaum. Professor Grünbaum will be lecturing from 6 to 20 November on aspects of the scientific status of psychoanalysis, on problems related to the placebo concept in medicine, and on the issues involved in the big-bang and steady-state theories of the creation of the Universe.

Sir Karl Popper notwithstanding, Professor Grünbaum is generally regarded as the leading philosopher of science in the world. His international reputation was established with the publication in 1963 of Philosophical Problems of Space and Time. He has published more than 200 articles mainly on the philosophical implications of the enquiries pursued by twentieth-century physics. In 1984, he appeared to change direction radically and published the fruit of several years' patient investigation of the scientific standing of the theoretical and clinical writings of Sigmund Freud. This was The Foundations of Psychoanalysis, a non-polemical but closely-argued critique of Freud's claims of "justified scientific status" for psychoanalysis. An instance of the importance attached to this work was the decision by the editors of Behavioral and Brain Sciences (Cambridge, England) to devote 70 pages of their June 1986 issue to the international critical response to this book, with detailed replies by Professor Grünbaum to his critics.

In 1985, Professor Grünbaum was invited to give the ten Gifford Lectures at the University of St. Andrews; in the same year he gave the Werner Heisenberg Lecture to the Bavarian Academy of Sciences in Munich. Since then, he has been called to lecture frequently in Western Europe, the USSR and the USA.

Edmonton is indeed fortunate to have attracted this eminent scholar for two weeks under the auspices of the EFF, says Robert Wilcocks (Romance Languages). The Departments of Psychiatry, Psychology, Philosophy, English, Romance Languages, and the Center for the Advanced Study of Theoretical Psychology have supported this visit collectively.

A schedule of Professor Grünbaum's lectures appears in the "Talks" section of Folio. During his visit, a video-recording of the BBC-TV debate chaired by Michael Ignatieff between Professor Grünbaum, R. Maxwell Young (U.K.) and André Green (France) will be shown in Theatre 141 in the basement of the Arts Building. There will be two screenings, 9 November, noon to 1 p.m., and 16 November, 2 to 3 p.m. □

Special Seoul Award for Nattrass

At the Summer Olympics, the International Shooting Union honored Susan Nattrass, Director, Interuniversity Athletics, with a Special Award for Women in Trapshooting—a gold medal and a diploma—in recognition of her out-of-the-ordinary contributions to women's trapshooting. In the Montreal Olympics (1976), Dr. Nattrass was the first (and only) woman to compete in an Olympic trapshooting event. This year in Seoul, when new rules opened the event to six qualifying women who competed with 44 men, Dr. Nattrass ranked first among the women (187 out of 200) and was 30th overall.

The Best Causes Need Your Help

Every day, from all sides, good causes come at you begging for help.

The problem is—your resources are limited.

When every cause seems deserving, how do you decide which one needs your help most?

That's where the United Way comes in.

By making a gift to the United Way, you are helping support 115 programs within 40 agencies that each year offer vital assistance to more than a quarter of a million people in our community.

From the Arthritis Society (research and education) to Uncles at Large, from the Association for the Hearing Handicapped (pre-school, early-intervention and life skills programs) to the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides movements that teach young people practical and leadership skills, from Operation Friendship (for the inner city elderly) to St. John Ambulance or the CNIB, your gift will go where it does the most good in the best way.

And 83 percent of every $1 you contribute goes directly to human service programs, because the United Way controls expenses strictly, distributes donations carefully, and uses the services of devoted volunteers to help reduce costs. Campaign costs are only 9 percent; and 8 percent goes to manage, administer and allocate funds.

Our campus United Way Campaign will be launched on 26 October with a payroll mailout, when you'll receive a directory of United Way services, along with a U of A pledge card. Soon after that, you'll be visited by someone you know in your department or your building who has volunteered to answer your questions and make it easy for you to participate if you choose.

Donations can be made by payroll deduction, or by cash or cheque. One-time donations are gratefully accepted, too.

Please help us meet our campus United Way Campaign goal of $140,000.

Your gift will make a critical difference to the lives of many. □

75th Anniversary Lectureships Series: Communications Out, Economy In

David Vice, president of Northern Telecom Ltd., has changed the title of his public lecture.

Mr. Vice, who was to have spoken on communications for the 21st century, has as his new topic "The Aggressive Economy: Keeping Canada Competitive."

In part the talk states: "In the global marketplace, the best protection of our sovereignty, and economic security, is a strong, aggressive economy."

The talks adds: "When considering the future, we in Canada have no choice but to think globally: to aim for world excellence in manufacturing, in mining, in agriculture, in business and finance, in post-secondary education, in science and technology, in labor relations, and especially in telecommunication."

The lecture, one of three in a series of (University of Alberta) 75th Anniversary Lectureships in Science, Agriculture and Engineering, is sponsored by the Alberta Research Council.

Mr. Vice speaks today (20 October) at 4 p.m. in L-1 Humanities Centre. □

Proposed AMS Facility Hub of Seminar at Alberta Research Council

The University of Alberta and the Alberta Research Council, wanting to inform industry and business of the proposed AMS (Accelerator Mass Spectrometry) facility have scheduled a one-day seminar (7 November).

The University and ARC also want to explore with industry and business the potential of mutual collaboration in developing the AMS technique to be applied to their specific areas.

AMS provides high accuracy in the determination of C-14 and other trace isotopes. Its main advantage is the requirement of only milligrams of sample material for analysis.

The AMS technique has been used to open new frontiers in many fields, says Tsing Lam, AMS project coordinator.

Seminar speakers will consist of experts in AMS as well as those in industry and business.

The seminar will take place at the Alberta Research Council, 250 Karl Clark Road, Edmonton. □

G.S.H. Lock (Mechanical Engineering) has been invited to chair the Polar Science and Technology Committee of the Science Council of Canada. The mandate of the committee is to survey polar science and technology in Canada, to ascertain our needs and industrial potential, and to help develop a coherent national policy . . . Richard (Dick) Rennie (PhD student in Accounting) has won the Third Annual Decision Analysis Student Paper Competition sponsored by the Operations Research Society of America (ORSA). The international competition is open to applicants from disciplines such as psychology, operations research, business or accounting who have an interest in decision analysis.

Mr. Rennie is the first Canadian to win the award . . . Raj Pannu and Carlos A. Torres (Educational Foundations) recently attended a two-week workshop in Dar-Es-Salaam, Tanzania, as part of a collaborative research project financed by IDRC between the University of Alberta, the University of Dar-Es-Salaam, and the Centre for Educational Research in Mexico. Subsequently, they presented a paper, jointly written with M.K. Bacchus (Educational Foundations), at the Mid-Term Conference of the Research Committee on Sociology of Education (International Sociological Association), in a meeting that took place in Salamanca, Spain. Last month, Dr. Torres chaired a session and delivered a paper at the XV World Congress of Political Science held in Washington, D.C.

Frozen in Time Authors Taking Centre Stage

The "Iceman" pictures that stirred the imagination of the world will be part of a special presentation at the Jubilee Auditorium on 25 October.

For 138 years, the body of John Torrington had lain in his Beechey grave almost perfectly preserved by the Arctic permafrost. It was in a very real sense frozen in time, a fascinating link with the ill-fated Franklin expedition of which Petty Officer Torrington had been a member, one of the first to perish.

In September 1984, the release of photographs of Torrington's amazingly well-preserved remains drew the attention of the world to the interdisciplinary University of Alberta research team employing the techniques of modern forensic science to investigate the Franklin tragedy.

Franklin Project co-leader Owen Beattie and journalist John Geiger will relate the complete story of that research and augment their talk with a large-screen presentation of photographs.

The presentation, which starts at 8 p.m., will incorporate the research group's very latest findings, including information never before presented in public.

The book Frozen in Time, co-written by Beattie and Geiger, chronicles the history of the Franklin expedition and the modern-day search for clues to the explorers' tragic fate. The event at the Jubilee Auditorium will also serve as the official Canadian launch of the book.

The University of Alberta Alumni Association is sponsoring the evening's activities. Tickets are on sale at BASS outlets. □

Review Search Committee for Vice-President (Academic)

The President is striking a Review/Search Committee for Vice-President (Academic). The President notes that "Dr. Peter Meekison is now in his fifth year as Vice-President (Academic). It is still too soon to know whether the committee we shall need will be a Review Committee or a Search Committee, but it is important that we form one at this time."

The composition of the Review/Search Committee for Vice-President (Academic) includes three members of the full-time faculty who do not hold administrative positions and who are not on leave. Nominations for these positions are now being sought.

Written nominations supported by the signatures of five members of the full-time academic staff (not including the nominee) may be submitted to the Director of the University Secretariat, Ellen Schoeck Solomon, 2-5 University Hall. Nominations must be received by Thursday, 3 November 1988, 4:30 p.m. Nominees must agree to stand for election to the Search Committee. GFC regulations require that nominees may not be holders of administrative positions, such as Dean or Department Chair, since administrators are already represented on the Search Committee. The full composition of the Search Committee for Vice-President (Academic), together with nomination and election procedures, are contained in Section 102 of the GFC Policy Manual.

Selection Committee for Dean: Faculty of Medicine

An Advisory Selection Committee has begun its search for a Dean of the Faculty of Medicine. The appointment will take effect 1 July 1989 or as soon as possible thereafter. Suggestions of possible candidates and assessments of the leadership needs of the Faculty are invited.

Since the incumbent Dean, Dr. Douglas R. Wilson, is a candidate for the position, the committee is also required to conduct a review of his administrative performance. Comments are invited with this stated purpose in mind.

Nominations or applications for the position, accompanied in the latter case by a detailed résumé of qualifications and experience, and the names of three referees, should be submitted by 16 December 1988 to: Dr. J. Peter Meekison, Vice-President (Academic), Third Floor, University Hall, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2J9.
